

Healing Circle of Love as given by Princess Diana and Mother Teresa

In 2006 my teenage daughter went into a tailspin and felt living with me was not what she wanted to do any longer. She had been living with me since her dad and I divorced when she was two. I thought we were best buddies and would pass with grace through the teenage years. This was not to be the case.

That year she was an AP Honor student and had enough credits to graduate early in January of 2007. Even though she was giving me a hug every night before bed and we weren't fighting, she ran away from home.

For both of us, the life we knew ceased to exist. For me operating my body in some semblance of normalcy became a challenge. I wanted to help my daughter! I wanted to bring her home and fix whatever needed to be fixed. I wanted to help her heal the raw pain she seemed to be drowning in, but she refused.

When my broken heart and I would go to bed, I would pray for Jess's safety and for help with this startling and unexpected life event. One night I received a very precious, profound gift in a surprising way.

Princess Diana came to me, hugged me, and told me that a "mother's love is impenetrable." She assured me that those of the angelic realm were with my daughter and that she would be working with her personally.

Immediately after she told me this, Mother Teresa joined us. Princess Diana took one of my hands and Mother Teresa took the other and we formed a circle. Diana instructed me to put my daughter in the middle, release all the fear, anger, frustration and pain I felt where Jess was concerned and send her all the love of my heart. As I envisioned doing this Princess Diana and Mother Teresa did the same.

Within moments Jess began to glow with the light of the love we were sending to her. Then Princess Diana, Mother Teresa and I began to glow brightly as well till we were all a glowing ball of love. I then noticed a beam of light coming down from the crystalline matrix above us to connect us all as one.

Within moments I shifted from deep within from pain and fear to love and I suddenly felt whole again and that Jess was safe. I experienced a deep knowing that Jess would be fine.

I slept better that night than I had since Jess left. When I woke, I felt in balance and at peace from deep within. I shifted to a source of love where my daughter was concerned and as a ripple affect my reality began to shift as well.

The lines of communication opened between my daughter and me and we began to rebuild our relationship. Thankfully, Jess got the help she needed to pull herself from the dungeon of depression.

I did not expect Princess Diana to come to me and help me heal my broken heart, but she did. I clearly remember meeting with her and Mother Teresa as if it just happened only moments ago.

This gift of healing through love from Princess Diana and Mother Teresa helped me so much I've shared it with countless others as a guided meditation CD: Healing Circle of Love as given by Princess Diana and Mother Teresa. This method of shifting fear to love works for everything – relationships and life events, as well as opening your heart to loving and nurturing yourself!

The visit from Princess Diana was a blessed gift from one mother to another and I am forever grateful!

Kathryn Speakes-Large
SoulKisses.com
CommunicatingThroughDementia.com
FlorenceScovelShinnsGameOfLife.com
WaitingInTheOtherRoom.com